

Hublot components ATTACHMENTS

---

The attachments of the case have to be made with extreme precision before being assembled to the case of the watch. They are subjected to a series of inspections because their adaptation will not tolerate the slightest error and must be perfect to the nearest hundredth of a millimeter. The two parts that make up the attachment have a satin finish, the first with a vertical pattern, and the second horizontal, giving it a unique personality.